WWF.de (m/w)

We, the WWF (World Wide Fund for Nature), pursue our mission with projects in more than one-hundred countries by conserving the biological diversity of our planet. At the same time, we increase awareness for responsible interaction with the foundations of our planetary life – also in the sense of a sustainable economy. Currently, more than five million individuals worldwide are supporting us in our efforts.

The WWF Germany is an independent global network. Through our own projects as well as qualified lobbying in the public arena, commerce and politics, we lend a voice to the WWF objectives in Germany. In our teams, qualified professionals with a high level of identification and commitment are working every day to support protection of nature and the environment.
